Board begins search for new superintendent

And expands no-smoking rules

By WENDY HANSCOM

The search is on for a new SAD #44 superintendent to replace Dewaine Craig, who is leaving the position in June.

School board chairman Margaret Hand of Greenwood said Monday night she plans to establish a 20-member committee to start the hunt for a new superintendent.

Craig has held the position for nine years. He announced two years ago he would be leaving in June 1993. SAD #44 was his first superintendent's job. He said Monday he has no firm plans for future employment.

The 20-member superintendent-search committee will be composed of six board members, three administrators, one central office employee, four teachers, two citizens from the district's strategic planning committee, two members of the AFSCME union (bus drivers, custodians and kitchen workers) and two district secretaries or teacher's aides.

Negotiations committee unfilled

The board's negotiation committee also has a vacant slot, chairman Hand announced Monday.

When board members filled out forms earlier this year indicating which committees they'd like to serve on, Hand said, no one volunteered for the negotiations committee.

Hand said she asked Bethel director Edleen Winslow and Greenwood director Susan Gordon to serve and both agreed.

Hand also originally appointed Bethel director Merton Brown to the committee but Brown turned down

G'wood tire site once again fails inspection

But no enforcement looms

By WENDY HANSCOM

The latest Department of Environmental inspection at Gordon's Tire storage/disposal site in Greenwood has revealed that the facility is still in violation of its license.

But once again neither the DEP nor the town of Greenwood (which has its own ordinance governing such sites) appears ready to take enforcement action against the site.

The DEP has promised another inspection after Nov. 1, and the town, according to Selectman Marie Bartlett, is waiting to see what action, if any, the DEP will take then.

In his report on the most recent inspection, Environmental Specialist Michael Parker states that as of Aug. 13 Peter and Susan Gordon were still in violation of several conditions, but that they have made some progress cleaning up the site.

By Aug. 1 the Gordons were to have removed tires from cell's A, B and C as needed to contain them within 100-by-100-by-20-foot boundaries and to establish 35 foot setback distances between the cells, 50 feet from tree lines and 150 feet from property lines.

Parker reported that: "The northern edge of cell A was still less than 150 feet from the property boundary, but some tires had been moved out in an effort to establish the setback requirement. Some progress had been made in establishing the 35-foot separation between cell A and cell B. A 15-foot wide corridor had been established where none existed before. The boundary between cells B and C was adequate. Some progress has been made in bringing the facility into compliance, but additional work is still needed."

The Gordons have another cleanup deadline to meet on Nov. 1.

By that date, the DEP has ordered the Gordons to establish permanent corner markers for cells A, B and C and to remove all tires from an unapproved "cell D."

Parker noted in his report that cell D has grown significantly. He estimated that a total of 60,000 tires have been added to the entire site since his last inspection in May.

Rangers search for evidence of woolly mammoth hunters

By MICHAEL DANIELS

In the evening, near the campfire, they chipped away at spear heads and scraping tools.

Later, as most of them slept, the heat from the campfire penetrated and split the rocks they had placed around it.

Come morning, they set out again on the hunt, and the duff and debris of millennia began to settle over their tracks.

Ten thousand years ago (more than twice as far back into the past as the age of the Pyramids) hunting parties of Paleoindians roamed the Maine woods in search of prey.

Wandering a landscape scraped clear by the last retreating glacier, they sought familiar prey like caribou and deer, but also the woolly mammoths and mastodons that were migrating northward toward extinction behind the glacier.

There is little question that the earliest Americans were here. Archaeologists now believe they entered Maine approximately 11,000 years ago, and, just north of the Bethel area, the "Vale Site" (now flooded by the man-made Aziscolhos Lake) has been firmly established as Paleoindian caribou killing ground. (Part of the Vale Site is named for former game warden Eric Wight of Bethel, an expert on Indian artifacts).

But unlike those who followed in the thousands of years before the arrival of the Europeans, the very earliest humans left few other signs of their passing.

In this damp environment, anything organic—flesh, bones, hides, worked wood—is long gone. But stone endures, including fluted projectile heads, debitage (the flakes struck off in tool manufacturing) and the firecracked rock from their campfires.

How close to home?

Perhaps very close. "Information that has come to light in the past few years indicates there are very many high potential areas," said Karl Roenke, a cultural resources specialist with the U.S. Forest Service.

Part of Roenke's job is to inventory and evaluate such sites when they fall within the boundaries of the White Mountain National Forest.

"High potential" in this case means well-drained, often slightly elevated locations near connecting ponds or wetlands. Evidence from Boulder Removal--Maine Conservation Corps participants Tracy Hart of Bethel, left, Tim Rivera of Andover and Tony Hart of Bethel extract a boulder destined to become part of a set of new rock steps on the Appalachian Trail in Grafton Notch. The three teenagers spent seven weeks working in Grafton Notch, the Baldpates and White Mountain National Forest. They built bridges in bogs, rock steps and waterbars to control erosion on hiking trails. During the work-week the corps members lived in a wilderness campsite on the trail. The Hurricane Island Outward Bound School sponsored the project, which ran in conjunction with the Maine Department of Conservation and Mountain Valley Training in Rumford.

County commissioners angered by Andover's fire protection refusal

By MARK SHANAHAN

The fate of Robert Bradford's proposed 42-lot subdivision on South Arm Road in Andover Surplus remained up in the air last week, after Andover selectmen informed Oxford County Commissioners the town would not provide the development with fire protection.

In a letter to the commissioners, signed by two of the town's three selectmen, the Andover board did not offer any reason for its refusal to provide the fire protection.

The subdivision must be approved by the state Land Use Regulation Commission, which reviews developments in unorganized territories. That approval is contingent on availability of adequate fire protection.

Bradford has said he plans to build 42 two-acre lots on a parcel of land one-half mile south of the Appalachian Trail between Black Brook and South Arm Road.

As the proposed subdivision is to be developed in Andover Surplus, an unorganized territory, Bradford had appealed to the county commissioners to secure adequate fire protection, as well as the services of a solid waste disposal agent.

In turn, the commissioners, who have agreements with towns adjacent to the county's unorganized territories to supply such services, requested the Andover board to provide Bradford's subdivision with fire protection.

The Andover selectmen's refusal to do so seemed to anger the commissioners last week.

"I don't know that the problem is," said Commissioner Norm Ferguson Jr. of Hanover. "It's not as though the area isn't already being developed. There are camps all along the road there."

New assessing agent begins making rounds in G'wood

By WENDY HANSCOM

Greenwood's new tax assessing agent is scheduled to begin assessing new construction in the town this week.

Selectman Marie Bartlett said O'Donnell Associates of Auburn will be assessing new buildings and additions.

The agency was hired by the town after voters decided at a special town meeting in June to replace tax assessor Herb Dunham, who had done the job for 20 years.

John O'Donnell and his associates will present homeowners with a letter of introduction from the selectmen, Bartlett said. O'Donnell has also notified the Oxford County Sheriff's Office that assessors will be casing some buildings in town.

Once the company has completed looking at new construction, it will begin a review of all town property, Bartlett said.

O'Donnell Associates will review one-quarter of the town each year, she said. After the entire town has

EXPLORATIONS EXPANDS

To the Editor:
EXPLORATIONS is an after school art program, developed after S.A.D. #44 lost its F.O.C.U.S. (Creative and Talented) Art Program. After a 10-week fall session, a 10-week spring session and a summer intensive, EXPLORATIONS completed its first exciting and successful year. There were a total of 132 students enrolled, there were waiting lists for each session, our two student art exhibits were widely attended and five students received recognition for the excellence of their work at the state level through the Maine Student Art Program.

Because of the generous donations of local businesses and individuals, 32 students received either partial or full scholarships to participate in EXPLORATIONS.

Last spring, S.A.D. #44 lost its elementary art program through the budget process. In response to that loss, EXPLORATIONS will be expanding to four days a week with two more classes, offering 68 places ranging from grade one through 12. We are once again appealing to the community for donations of any size to help children have access to a program which can develop their talents. Please send donations to: EXPLORATIONS SCHOLARSHIP FUND, c/o Arla Patch, RR2, Box 2570, Bryant Pond, Me 04219.

CURTAIN GOING UP

To the Editor:
For the 36th year Children's Dance Theater of Bethel will swing open its stage door to a brand new dance season. New equipment, tapes, records and material from New York, Boston, San Francisco give students the best material available in all phases of dance.

Children's Dance Theater of Bethel is an original concept which stretches beyond the average dance recital giving the student opportunity to not only dance but sing and act as well.

Last year's production of "Mary Poppins" brought in the talent of adults in the area making it an enjoyable community project. ("Mary Poppins" may be seen on Channel 7 on Aug. 28 at 2 o'clock. Tune in and see your local talent perform). Similar plans are in progress for the spring review, which will once again call on talented volunteers in all phases of theater work.

This experience over the years has interested students to go on to study theater arts, acting, music, lighting, set and costume design as well as teaching. The most well known being daughter Michelle Farrar Keyes who is director of Children's Dance Theater of South Paris and Windham. Ms. Farrar hears from past students who have made some part of theater their careers. Locally Sheri Cordova and Bonny Marshall are assistant teachers at C.D.T. Maureen Davis, Sheri Snyder, Kathy Schiavi, Jan Bennett, Debi Irons, all are making a career of theater and all are past students of Children's Dance Theater from little tykes through high school and beyond.

Teaching is a never-ending study. One must keep on top of new fads especially in Jazz which changes with the seasons. Fortunately our workshops keep us abreast of the times with the best teachers in the country available to us—going beyond the "funky" dances that all kids know how to do to the true jazz moves that train the student for professional work.

Over 36 years of study and teaching has made it possible for C.D.T. to design a program of dance that not only gives students the necessary basics but also allows them to progress at a pace equivalent to their abilities.

Combination classes are required for all students up to the age of 10. This introduces the child to both ballet and tap at barre, across the floor and center work. Ballet is very important as it lays the foundation for all types of dance and teaches proper placement and stance, making all forms of dance look better.

At age 10 with the proper background experience a student may choose to take an all tap, ballet, pointe or jazz class. The exception to the above is acrobatics, in which children are placed without previous experience according to age and ability.

This year's Spring Production calls for teenage boys and it is hoped they will come forward and join in their own jazz class. Television has shown that dance is for everyone regardless of sex. We urge teens to come in and discuss it with us at registration day. Let's talk it over.

Let's raise the curtain on the best 1992-93 season ever, remembering that casting and costumes must be decided by November.

HI HO, ROSS, AWAY!

To the Editor:

Ross Perot came riding on his horse and stirred up the "soup." Although a lot of people were saddened by his going, people will think twice before voting. I think it purged the political "idea." Now both parties will try harder to convey their idealism. Perot rode away in the sunset, but he is back to stir up the "soup" again, come September, it's not goodbye.

May the best man win, but that is not always the case. To quote King David's son, Solomon: "In this world, the fast runners do not always win the race, capable men do not always rise to high positions, bad luck happens to everyone, you never know when your time is coming, there is no one on earth who does what is right all the time and never makes a mistake." Period.

RECYCLING BEARS

To the Editor:

Oxford County Regional Solid Waste Corporation wishes to announce the adoption of Ralph and Rita, the recycling bears, as part of the corporation's overall educational program.

Ralph and Rita will help bring to the public interesting statistics and general information on the recycling efforts of its member towns.

Ralph and Rita are now addressing the corporation's number one problem, which is the contamination of recycled materials.

Watch for their helpful hints in this newspaper, and on the public access television channel.

United Way of Oxford County Pledging 1991-92 Pledges by District

CAMPAIGN TALLIES—The United Way of Oxford County has just ended its 1991-92 pledge campaign. The Bethel area raised $1,641, with an additional $255 from Bryant Pond. The largest single contributor was Sunday River Ski Resort, which donated $946. Financial support from the campaign goes to 21 human service agencies that belong to the United Way of Oxford County. The next United Way campaign is scheduled to kick off on Oct. 1.

Salty dogs

By MIKE BROWN

The Maine Legislature in its infinite wisdom, or by intimidation from its spoiled step-child, the Department of Environmental Protection (or both) decided several years ago that those Maine landmarks, salt/sand sheds, needed roofs.

The legislators passed a law that such dangerous piles must be covered but failed to fund the program. This is a common but sneaky political way to grow bureaucratic fungus. The pots later kicked in a few million and handed the project over to the Department of Transportation. And so over the years, the state and municipalities have been whittling away at the $multi-million project of building expensive hives over the more than 125 state and 400 municipal salt/sand sheds in Maine.

So far, since the inception of the program, which is cost-sharing between state and municipalities, the communities have built some 50 and the state 26 sheds. There's about 400 to go and the state DOT has less than $500,000 in its current coffers to divvy up for salt domes.

Covering piles of sand mixed with sodium chloride is expensive. First, the mix. There are between 95 to 125 lbs. of salt mixed with each yard of sand. Salt costs $30-35 a ton; sand $6-10 a yard. This mix is necessary, says DOT, to keep the Maine winter traffic moving safely.

Some indication of the costs of covering the piles is found in the 1992 Job Bond Creation Program, the $79 million pork barrel rolled by confused voters in June. There were 18 community winners that requested a total of $1,278,850 in bond monies to build salt/sand sheds.

The champ has to be Sandy River Plantation in Franklin County whose $109,750 salt dome for a population of about 50 persons ciphers out at $2,195 per capita.

DEP says the covering of salt/sand piles is a "ground water protection" effort. The department sets a time schedule for priority projects numbered from 1, the highest, to 5, the lowest. The criteria for priorities 1 and 2 are that if one, that's one well (somewhere near?) has traces of salt then it's a high priority. The legislature last year extended the planning timetable for covering salt/sand sheds spreading them from 1993 to 1995. All 500-plus sheds, however, must be completed and in operation before Jan. 1, 1999.

Covering salt/sand piles accomplishes what, anyway? They take a winter's worth of road mixture which the DEP says is "outside storage of chemicals" and house sits the pile until smokey trucks throughout the winter come and spread the piles of salt/sand upon thousands of miles of road. The salt/sand "chemicals" apparently don't harm the Dirigo roadside flora because it must be mowed and chemically sprayed annually to keep the woods from conquering the roads.

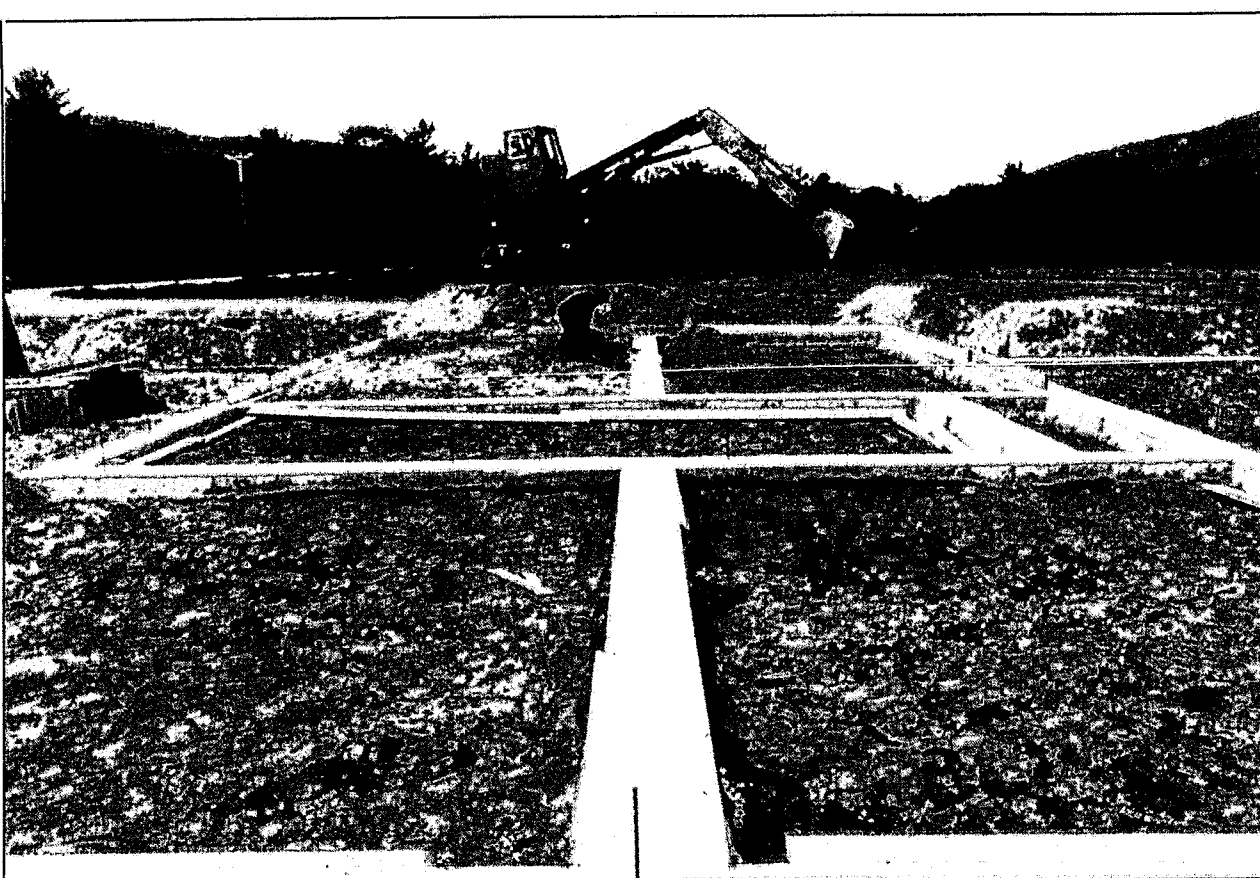

The bureaucracy tries to scare the hell out of us by saying that salt in drinking water will contaminate us. This is a rather strange observation in that some wells have been identified as having saltwater left over from several million years ago when Maine was covered with oceanic saltwater.

Just as the energy engineers can't find a substitute for trees without limbs for stringing power and talking wires, the highway engineers can't find a suitable substitute for sodium chloride which comes in the buff from salt mines. Salt may hold the sand grit to icy Maine roads but it also holds the first mortgage on the family car which disintegrates ten times faster than a beer can.

Next stop on the Can't Do Tour for drinking water bureaucrats are the beaver ponds. Seems the beaver carry a nasty bug that causes Beaver Fever which affects some folks but very few beer drinkers. Ergo! Either kill all the beaver, drain all their habitat or dome every beaver flow that gurgles merrily into Maine drinking water reservoirs.

Maine could recoup some of the costly Beaver Fever dome construction by submitting a bid right now for the 2010 Super Bowl.

(Veteran newsman and columnist Mike Brown writes regularly on the Augusta political scene. His views are his own and do not necessarily reflect those of The Citizen.)

GETTING READY FOR SKI SEASON—Construction is moving ahead briskly at the site of the Sunday River Brewing Company, a 184-seat restaurant and micro-brewery at the intersection of the Sunday River Road and Route 2. Developer Hennie Merrill said he hopes to have the restaurant open by Christmas. The business is projected to employ up to 40 people, Merrill said, with interviews expected to begin toward the end of October. The Sunday River Brewing Company is one of four new restaurants—all between Bethel village and Sunday River Skiway—that are scheduled to be open by ski season.

FROM THE Bethel Town Office

The Town of Bethel has four major projects in process this summer. The lower Main Street Project, the Mill Hill-Broad Street Project, and the construction of and conversion to the transfer station have all required the attention and energy of the selectmen and staff. Smaller projects such as the proposed Davis Park, the computerization of the sewer billing system, the purchase of a new police cruiser and the installation of blowers at the treatment plant, along with the normal operation of the town such as ditching and culvert work, paving maintenance, the annual financial audit, and the recreation programs, to name a few, have kept us all scrambling.

Nonetheless, the selectmen have recognized that the present must not be allowed to totally absorb our attention. There will always be problems, and projects designed to fix them. Given that, a well run town also has plans in place to avoid and minimize foreseeable problems. Therefore the board has appointed a Capital Improvements Program (CIP) Committee to inspect and evaluate the town's buildings, equipment, and vehicles, and to recommend to the selectmen and the Budget Committee a five-year capital spending plan.

Many of you are probably familiar with the notion of planning for capital spending, we all do it when we

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the 27th annual meeting of the Society will be held on Thursday, Sept. 3, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning with a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper.

The business meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. and include the election of officers and trustees as well as the presentation of the Marjorie MacArthur Noll Volunteer Service Award for 1992. President Jane Hosterman will provide a review of some of the highlights of the Society since the last annual meeting.

Speaker for the evening will be Nathan D. Hamilton of the archaeology department of the University of Southern Maine. Hamilton received his undergraduate degree from the University of Southern Maine and his Ph.D. from the University of Pittsburgh in 1985. He has lectured and written widely on archaeology. His topic at the meeting will be "Prehistory of the Androscoggin."

Anyone attending the potluck supper is requested to bring a salad, hot dish or dessert. The meeting is open to anyone interested in attending. The nominating committee, consisting of Margaret Davis, representing the board of trustees, and Donald Brown and Betty Perkins, the general membership, will present a slate of officers for consideration at the annual meeting.

Membership in the Society continues to grow. Among the most recent new members are Robert C. Parente, Boston; Sarah S. Tucker, Boston; Cathy Canavan, Cool, Calif.; Albert and Norma Buck, Bethel; Linda Knight, Harrison; Shirley A. Welch, Brownfield; Patricia Carter, Bethel; Claire Berry Cartrell, Cumming, Ga.; Dr. Taylor Thompson, Boston; Valerie Uber, Boston; Firsteen Lane, Vacaville, Calif. A warm welcome is extended to these latest additions to the rolls of the Society.

Local Democrats to hold Meet-the-Candidate night

A meet-the-candidate night sponsored by the Bethel Democratic Committee and People for Rockie Graham will mark the opening of the Rockie Graham campaign headquarters in the former Telstar Video store on Route 2 in Bethel, Monday, Aug. 31 from 6 to 8 p.m.

Graham is running for the House District 49 seat. The store front office will also be the local satellite office for Second Congressional District candidate Pat McGowan.

Graham is a long-time community organizer with a degree in public policy and an interest in creating a more efficient state and county government. The open house on Monday is for individuals from both parties interested in learning more on how she will represent voters in Augusta if she is elected to the House of Representatives in November.

A telephone, chairs, and a desk are still being sought for the office; campaign manager Don Murphy can be contacted at the campaign headquarters (824-3948) or at home (836-2203) to arrange for pick-up of donated items, or for information on ways to assist with the Rockie Graham or Pat McGowan campaigns.

Graham is running for the seat currently held by Republican Al Barth. District 49 includes the Oxford County towns of Bethel, Byron, Gilead, Hanover, Lovell, Newry, Upton, Waterford, Lincoln and Magalloway Plantations, Albany and Mason Townships, plus unorganized territories, and the Franklin County towns of Avon, Rangeley, and Weld, Rangeley and Sandy River Plantations and unorganized territories.

Asked to comment on the letter Wednesday, Andover selectman Raymond Hutchins said, "(The board) left it kind of vague because, basically, we're not in favor of the subdivision and don't want to provide the services."

Specifically, Hutchins said, the Andover board is opposed to the development because subdivision together and it's beautiful country that can't handle a subdivision."

Declining for the moment to take legal action against the Town of Andover, the commissioners simply agreed last week to pass the letter along to Robert Bradford.

Also Tuesday, the commissioners met with Norway Fire Chief Bob Butters and representatives of the Maine Forest Service to discuss ways in which radio communication can be improved in the southern portion of Oxford County. The commissioners said the towns of Hiram, Lovell, Fryeburg, Denmark, Stow, Stoneham, Sweden and Brownfield, among others, had complained that the county's emergency radio communications are not always audible.

The commissioners directed Butters, who heads the county's Radio Communications Committee, to work with state forest service personnel to determine whether additional transmitters and receivers on Pleasant Mountain in Bridgton would alleviate the problem.

"This could be a matter of life and death," said Commissioner Albert "Jim" Carey of Paris. "We should get it figured out as soon as possible."

The commissioners agreed to address similar complaints from the Towns of Canton and Peru in northern Oxford County at the earliest possible date.

Also Tuesday, the commissioners awarded four three-year snowplowing contracts.

Richard Bean of Otisfield was awarded the job of plowing the runway and access road at the Oxford County Regional Airport in Oxford.

David Smith Jr. of Andover was awarded the job of plowing a five-mile stretch of East B Hill between Andover and Upton.

From the Bethel Police log:

Party thrower summonsed; tipsy buggy driver reported

After two complaints Friday evening about loud partying, Darleen Morin of Bethel Park Apartments was issued a criminal summons for disorderly conduct.

At 11 p.m., Officer Darren Tripp responded to an anonymous report of a loud party at the complex. Tripp advised Morin that if he received another complaint she could be summonsed for disorderly conduct. The complaint came in shortly after midnight and Morin was issued the summons. Police told her that if a third complaint was received all subjects at the party could be arrested for disorderly conduct.

Police are also investigating the theft of a generator grill stolen at the Bethel Water District's pump station behind the West Bethel Children's Center. The grill was valued at $250. Water District manager Bob Saunders reported the theft Saturday.

In other police news, Bethel Park Apartment manager Nancy Fogg also reported Saturday that someone had pushed over a light pole at the complex. Fogg valued the pole and its light at $220.

Saturday night, Officer Tripp responded to a report of an allegedly very intoxicated person driving a horse and buggy on Route 2 in Mayville. Tripp reported finding the apparently intoxicated man. The buggy driver told Tripp who he was and who he had borrowed the rig from. The buggy owner agreed to pick up both the driver and the rig.

Later in the evening, Tripp asked the Maine Department of Environmental Protection to put the stop sign back up at the intersection of Route 2 and Railroad Street. Tripp reported that the sign was probably removed during construction in the area.

A Main Street juvenile told police last Wednesday that someone had stolen a light off his bicycle.

been evaluated, the selectmen will consider adjusting tax bills accordingly, Bartlett said.

"That way no one will pay a disparate amount of taxes in one part of town," she said.

O'Donnell has also been updating the town's tax maps, which have not been reviewed for three years, Bartlett said.

White goods fee hike

At last week's selectmen's meeting, the board decided to start charging for the disposal of all white goods at the town's stump dump.

Bartlett said the town has been charging $5 for the disposal of refrigerators and freezers, but will now charge the same fee for other large appliances such as washers, dryers and water heaters.

The town will also begin levying a $15 fee for the collection of freon from discarded freezers, refrigerators and air conditioners.

"If they don't have a sticker on them to certify that the freon has been removed," Bartlett said, "we will charge $15 to have it removed."

The town has hired French Refrigeration of Norway to remove the refrigerant gas. The federal Environmental Protection Agency has ordered all towns to hire a certified person to release freon from scrap appliances.

In a related matter, Greenwood and Woodstock selectmen inspected the G & W stump dump last week. Bartlett said selectmen found household garbage mixed in with construction debris. The two towns are considering establishing a fine for anyone dumping household trash at the stump dump, she said.

Sunday, Sept. 13 will begin the fall program schedule with Rally Day at 9:30 a.m. and church service at 10:45 a.m. At Monday's S.S. meeting it was decided on a theme, "The Large and the Small." Weekly prayer meeting is 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday. Looking forward to the beginning of Awana's in our area, leaders will announce the starting date in September.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

An island, because of its inconvenience of reaching it, has a magic of its own. The most coastal visitor can fall under its spell. On Aug. 6, I returned, to North Haven Island after several years of being away, for the taste of the sea and friendliness of the people. I had visited there many times with my husband, my sister and her husband, Franze Mills, so had many memories of years ago. This year my nephew, David, his wife, Sally, and daughter, Mary, took me--a birthday gift from them.

A walk on the mainland can be longer and more varied, but doesn't have the same enchantment.

We were in Rockland by 9:30 a.m. to take the ferry across Penobscot Bay. We saw ducks and a few seals, as we looked for familiar places: Owls Head, the Rockland Breakwater, the Granite Monument and the Sugar Loaf with the face in the rock.

After visiting a friend, Bertha Joyce, and another nephew and niece, we used their truck and headed for Mullen's Head, a place that I had visited many times in years past. We took a favorite approach to a rough road through an evergreen forest that had its own enchantment. We especially noticed one tree with a huge burl or gall on its trunk. I knew then right where I was for I remembered this. We were in a world of stillness and dense shade because the spruces were crowded so closely together and their tops provided a canopy of green. We enjoyed the whiff of spruce, the sharp smell of kelp on wet rocks and the wash of the surf. Mosses made dazzling little gardens. We came to the beach, a little coarse sand and a great many stones. It was so quiet we could hear the sea breathe.

It was a delightful day in every way and we found a place to eat our lunch.

After walking the beaches we planned to tour more of the Island so we left the cries of the sea birds and VEGETATION MYSTERY--The state completed most of the resurfacing of the Bethel cloverleaf recently, but left behind a bankful of dead grass and holes. Clyde Walton, Maine Department of Transportation manager of landscaping and environmental mitigation, said the holes with stakes in them mark where ornamental shrubs will be planted. Landscapers plan to plant about 4,500 shrubs and evergreen seedlings around the cloverleaf, Walton said. After the land was cleared during construction, grass grew up again, he said. The state sprayed the grass and is waiting for it to die before planting the shrubs. The shrubs are preferable to grass, Walton said, because they form a more sturdy root system to prevent erosion. The state also saves money, he added, because the shrubs eliminate the cost of mowing the banks.

the beach dandelions growing among the flotsam. The gulls had glided with effortless grace, outlined against the sky, piercing the cove with their awesome calls, hitting the water, as a feather might fall then standing motionless seemingly carved from stone.

Time passed much too quickly. We continued on to see Pulpits Harbor and the different houses where we had stayed years ago; for David had been there when he was very young.

When passing the little cemetery, I stopped for a moment to say "Hello" to my sister, Annie, and to Franze resting here on the land where he was born.

We boarded the ferry at 3:30, ate in Camden, then took the mammoth serpent-highway which we followed home. How different from the Bay crossing, smooth, a bowl of blue with dots of yachts and beaches smiling among the boulders.

We arrived in Greenwood City at 10:15. I dreamed the night away with thoughts of surf, lobster buoys, yachts, and a rock-bound coast.

It was a delightful trip and with my other gifts and 40 cards I had a lovely birthday. Thanks to every one.

The summer is nearly over. I can see Autumn by the pond for my little maple is dressed in red. Ann Holt was in Portland over the weekend to attend the wedding of a friend.

I have had many callers this past week and I also turned back time for I took a ride in the "rumble seat" of a beautiful old car--like me it was "born" many years ago. I didn't get in quite as easily as I could when we had one some 60 years ago. It was fun and I was pleased.

John and Dot Betts have had company for a few days.

Milton Inman has the foundation to their house finished and it's beginning to look like home. Eleanor says she can walk around inside now without feeling the house tip and walk with her.

There are new neighbors in the Hayes home.

Rena Curtis and I were recently in Poland to see my brother, Ernest Curtis. We also called on a cousin, "Ab" Pratt.

So. Woodstock

By OLIVE R. DAVIS

Family reunion of the Davis family was held at the home of Jerri Shorey in Cumberland Sunday, Aug. 16. A potluck dinner was enjoyed including hot dogs, hamburgers, salads, baked beans and desserts. Those attending were Esther Davis and daughter, Patricia Davis Tibbetts, Jackie Tibbetts and Tim Kennagh, Ethel Davis, Edith Davis Deegan, Eddie and Jody Deegan, Ronnie and Alice Deegan and Michelle, Lenna Davis Farnum and granddaughter, Tracey, Candy Farnum, Bruce and Torrie Johnson and Ryan, and a friend, the host and hostess, Jerri Shorey and Don Brown. A good time was had by all.

The Bryant Pond Historical Society reminds you not to forget Woodstock's famous citizens. General Alger was also very concerned about that when he was alive. Francis Brooks did some cleaning in the museum recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews and Esther Davis spent Monday with Olive Davis.

Callers have been Mr. and Mrs. William Chick and Esther Davis.

Franklin Grange held an auction at their hall in Bryant Pond. Lettie was picking up things for the sale Thursday. The sale was Friday, Aug. 21.

A trailer has been moved to Curtis Hill this week. More on it later.

Callers at Alma Hewey's were her daughter, Louise Powell, Frye, Bernice Wing, Dixfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walton, Dixfield. Gertrude Hutchins was the only bus rider to Rumford on Wednesday.

Nancy Fox, Bethel and Betsy York, South Paris called on Anne

Fox on Sunday.

Elizabeth Sennett went out to supper with Freeman and Norma Farrington on Sunday night.

Tiffanie Marston, South Portland stayed a few days with Aunt Florence Hall who is recovering from a cataract operation.

Tiffanie will be flying to Oklahoma Aug. 19 to attend the state university.

Mr. and Mrs. William Helm, Belfast, visited Florence Hall on Thursday.

West Paris

By MIRIAM INMAN

A 25th wedding anniversary party was held for Mr. and Mrs. Owen Melville of Woodland on Aug. 9 at the West Paris Grange Hall.

Owen, formerly of Locke Mills and Donna (Proctor) formerly of West Paris, enjoyed the afternoon greeting old friends, relatives and classmates, and reminiscing the good times together.

Of particular interest during the celebration was the table of old memories of years gone by. Included on it was a scrapbook where one could write their memories. Many pictures and school memorabilia was displayed. Even Donna's cheerleading sweater and a new West Paris Bobcat hat were part of the display. Hanging behind the table were matching T-shirts depicting their wedding picture which were to be worn at their party in Woodland. The gift table was handled by Beryl Bonney and Mary Bessey.

The occasion was hosted by the couple's son, Dennis (a junior at Thomas College in Waterville) and after he made a toast in his parent's honor, they cut the anniversary cake, which was made by Donna's sister, Dorene Merrill. Refreshments and cake were served and enjoyed by everyone.

The couple's parents are the late Mildred and Charles Melville of Locke Mills and Ann and Ivan Proctor of Greenwood St., West Paris.

An Aug. 15 celebration was held at their home in Woodland. Many friends and family were in attendance there.

Twenty members of the West Paris Historical Society met with Bob and Beverly Glines at their cottage on North Pond on Monday evening. A picnic was enjoyed prior to the meeting. Much business was discussed and plans for a supper were made with the following committee: Edith Morey, Lempi Cyr, Cynthia Lamb and Miriam Inman. The next meeting will be on Sept. 21 at the Society building preceded by a potluck supper with DeeDee Chase and Joyce Lamb in charge.

were often selected, not for permanent campsites, but for overlowing migrating game.

The local national forest, relatively undisturbed despite having been logged in the past, is getting increased attention from archaeologists.

No confirmed Paleoindian sites have been identified in the WMNF (although later sites have been found), but in recent years the Forest Service has stepped up its surveying activity, largely because of increased data pointing to the possible existence of such sites.

"We're starting to go into areas we never would have gone into five to projected timber sales.

Lyle Wiggin of Bryant Pond, a cultural resources paraprofessional in Evans Notch District, is candid about the searchers' ambivalence.
"We hope not to find them, so the timber sale can proceed," he said,
"but it would be doggone interesting if we did."

So far they haven't. The local district is rich in more recent historical sites, such as the Brickett Place on Route 113 and numerous remains of logging, milling and farming activity, but no Paleoindian sites have yet been found.

In the most recent search, requested by SHPO, was conducted years ago," Roenke said. "Our preconceived ideas about what early people might have been like are changing yearly."

Money plays its role

Part of this interest is scientific and cultural, but part of it is economic--since federal law requires the forest service to inventory and protect such sites before allowing any activity that might disturb them.

Sites with Indian artifacts are now defined by law as cultural properties, and federal agencies are required to "administer the cultural properties under their control in a spirit of stewardship and trusteeship for future generation."

In practical terms this means that wherever evidence of a site is found, the area must be put off limits to potentially disruptive activities such as logging.

Cultural resources surveys must now be conducted before allowing any activity that might disturb the ground. The extent of the survey is determined in part by what past experience predicts might be found there. All surveys must be approved by both the Forest archaeologist and the State Historic Preservation Office (SHPO).

But local ranger districts are also under considerable bureaucratic cut out," and finding such a site could be an unwelcome interruption

Curator Larry Billings has arranged a few things on the new tables upstairs. He has also been doing a little research on the Civil War. It is a subject he wants to know more about. Be sure and visit the historical museum this season.
There are many new exhibits you can see.

Robert Billings has been framing things at the historical museum.
Paul Billings has mowed the lawn again much thanks.

"Notes from Larry"--Just for a moment try and conjure up the spirit of Captain John Dearborn. Imagine what he might say: "When I was alive, Bryant Pond village reached the high point of its development.
Businesses thrived in the center of town. Farming was still vital. Many local people worked in my mill. I was considered a pillar of the community and owned a fine home on Main St. For recreation, I read Shakespeare and Milton and raised thoroughbred horses. I can testify that Woodstock has a distinguished past."

The Noyes family watched the historical museum recently. Basil Sequin and Larry Billings have both donated items to the Historical Society. Don't forget about Wood-stocks famous citizens and others all played important roles in Wood-stocks past. The Historical Society good crowd and refreshments.

Tuesday, Aug. 18 I got Jason Thayer. We went to Norway and did errands and then visited Richard and Barbara Felt. Jason helped me set the tables for our supper.

Saturday, Sept. 5 a dance at West
Paris Grange Hall. Richard Felt's
Band will perform.

Saturday, Sept. 5 a flea market and food sale at Pinhook Chapel from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tables are $2 each.

Call Norma Davis at 665-2281.

Aug. 20 Mr. and Mrs. James Knights quietly celebrated their 60th anniversary at their home in Pin-hook. Congratulations. They were neighbors and friends to our Coffin

After listening all week to Born Again Politician Bush's Disciples
(speakers) on the Mound (platform),
I thought I detected a "halo" surrounding his head on Thursday or was I mistaken?

In my Aug. 12 column, I mentioned that Karlene Bachelder had to be driven to the Norway Hospital for some X-rays because the Bethel center could not take care of her at the time, because no one knew how to work the X-ray machine. I am sorry if I gave the public the wrong impression. It just happened that no one was available at the time. It was just one of those days that may happen once in a great while. The center is sorry it happened and so am I.

The "Newry Bowling Gang" members who went to Rumford Oxford Lanes were: Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley, Irene Hadfield and Olive Anderson. Rena Powers, Jim Anderson and Betsy's mother were guests.
Of the "lefties" Betsy was high and so was Karlene who tied for the triples. Betsy was also high on the singles with one string of 103. Of the "righties" Olive was high on the singles and also on the average.
Betsy had three spares, Karlene four spares, Gil four spares, Louise one spare, Olive two spares and one strike.

Mrs. Dot Dore of N.H. is spending some time here in North Newry with her daughter and son-in-law, Betsy and Dick Clark.

the appointment.

In a letter to Hand dated April 30, Brown wrote: "The pure logistics (I have job and other commitments at least three evenings each week) of my serving on the negotiations committee make it impossible for me to serve. My unwillingness to serve not only has the potential of damaging the credibility of the whole committee, but it also severely taints my ability to serve the best interests of the entire board. I can not imagine a worse choice than myself to serve and can not help but accept this appointment with the sense that I am being punished for my consistent and very much supported stance on the issue of taxation."

Brown has been a frequent critic of the SAD #44 budget process, and in an apparent reference to him, Hand said Monday: "If anyone feels the committee appointments are made out of revenge, I can assure you that's not the case."

Hand said she wants to resolve the issue at the next meeting either in open or executive session. She said she will ask the board at that time what they think she should do.

SAD #44 now smoke free

Monday night the board also approved the final reading of this year's policy revisions--which includes prohibiting smoking on all SAD #44 property.

The vote bans district employees and other adults using school facilities from smoking. For several years students have not been allowed to smoke on school property.

Bethel Director John Brown said the school's policy on smoking has been getting gradually tougher over the years. He reminded board members that students used to have outside smoking areas, adults were allowed to smoke in classrooms after school hours and board members smoked at meetings.

"This is just the last step in the process," said Andover Director Brad Thiabodeau. "By allowing smoking anywhere on our property we're condoning it."

Merton Brown was the only director to vote against the adult smoking ban. "If the reason for instituting this was to teach by example," he said, "then I always felt it was degrading enough to send smokers out by the dumpsters."

Adult Education Director Cathy Newell argued that smoking could be phased more gradually. "I think we'll have a lot more smoking in the building, because we don't have an outside area," she said. It's going to be a problem of enforcement too. What do we do, call the cops?"

"We are suppose to be a chemical free zone," Hand said. "Please tell me what drug is more addictive than nicotine." Building administrators will be responsible for enforcement, she said.

11-grade MEA scores drop

Telstar Principal Ted Davis also passed out the results of the latest round of 11-grade MEA tests, which were below the state average in all six content areas--by more than 100 points in writing.

"If you take a look at just this year's 11-grade scores," Superintendent Craig said, "you'll probably gag and wheeze and choke. But the MEA was put together to measure the progress of students. It does show what these students did. They have improved since the eight-grade. I am proud of these 11-graders and our staff, because they did show improvement."

Davis said he would provide the board with more in-depth test result statistics at a future meeting.

New bus and sports fees explained

Monday night, Craig also responded to questions from board members regarding new late bus and sport fees.

In an effort to raise revenue, the district instituted an athletic user fee this spring and will also charge 50 cents per late bus ride.

Craig said the two fees are separate and athletes riding the late bus will be required to pay the fee, as will students staying after school for other activities.

Parents who qualify for free or reduced lunches may also be eligible for a waiver or reduction of their children's sports fee, Craig said.

Families that do not want to fill out the free lunch form can apply to their child's principal or Athletic Director Carroll Higgins for a waiver, Craig said.

Higgins said he is preparing a handout explaining the new fees. The handout will be distributed to students once school starts.

Ceat presentation

Community Chemical Awareness Team (Ceat) members also updated the board Monday on their efforts to involve the community in the prevention of substance abuse in SAD #44.

The group is planning a chemical free picnic on the common, information "teas" in homes throughout the district and community-based support groups.

"We have to have the prevention of alcohol and drug abuse seen as a public commitment," said Ceat member Rodney Abbott. "We can have the most successful program in the state in our school system, but it will fail if we don't have the community behind us."

Woodstock director Marcel Polak commended the committee for their efforts and asked them if they would also be addressing sugar and caffeine addiction.

"We're not trying to solve all the worlds problems," Abbott said, "but we will try to address those needs."

In other business Monday night, the board appointed: Linda Smith as the Telstar yearbook adviser for the 1992-93 school year; Jennie Fillmore as Telstar food service worker and Patricia Carter and Diane Henson as full-time bus drivers.

SAD #44 registration of new students

Registration of new students who will be attending school within S.A.D. #44 (Andover, Bethel, Greenwood, Newry and Woodstock) is taking place at the appropriate schools this week and during the afternoons of Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

Parents/guardians of new students should bring medical records and the student's most recent rank card to the main office at the appropriate school. New kindergarten students who have not previously registered must also bring a copy of their birth certificate and immunization records.

Below is a listing of the schools in S.A.D. #44, their location, the grade span contained within the school, and the office phone number:

Andover School: Pine Street, Andover, Kindergarten thru six, phone 392-4281.

Crescent Park School: Crescent Park, Bethel, Kindergarten thru six, phone 824-2839.

Woodstock School: Rumford Avenue, Bryant Pond, Kindergarten thru five, phone 665-2228.

Telstar Middle School: Route 26, Bethel, Grade six (all students except Andover), Grades seven and eight (all students), phone 824-3596.

Telstar Regional High School: Route 26, Bethel, grades nine thru 12 (all students), phone 824-2136.

Registration for new students at each school will be held from 9 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. each day. For any further information concerning the registration of new students and/or the opening of school on Wednesday, Sept. 2, please contact the office at each individual school. If parents/guardians are unable to register their students during the hours listed, they should telephone the individual school's office to make other arrangements.

The first day of school for students within S.A.D. #44 is Wednesday, Sept. 2.

Tires

Parker said Monday the continued illegal expansion was not acceptable to the DEP.

"We will be looking to see if they meet the conditions of their license by Nov. 1," Parker said. "Then we'll send them a letter spelling out the corrective action that needs to be taken. Otherwise, we can pursue legal action, which might include preventing them from bringing any more tires in or outlining a schedule for disposal."

But for now neither the DEP nor Greenwood officials are planning any immediate enforcement action.

Greenwood selectman Bartlett said

the town's lawyers are prepared to take legal action, but that she'd prefer that the DEP handle the matter.

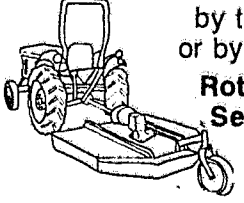

While the tires pile up, the town continues to stall any legal battle because of the potential expense involved. Town officials are worried that besides lawyers fees, the cost might include the town paying $2 to dispose of each tire on the site if a town-imposed shut down forces the Gordons out of business and into bankruptcy.

The tire site, located off the Rabbit Road, has been operating since 1986 and is now estimated to contain more than one million tires.

TEACHING SCHOLARSHIP

Zeta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma will award one $300 scholarship in November. Applicants must be women who have completed their freshman year of college and are going into the field of teaching. Applicants should submit a letter telling about their educational background, future plans and why they feel they would be a good recipient. The deadline for letters of application is Sept. 15. Letters of application should be submitted to: Judith Loper, P.O. box 13, Paris, Maine, 04271.

Delta Kappa Gamma is a society of women educators. One of the goals of the society is to help recognize women in education and promote professional growth.

A HIGH SCHOOL DEGREE WILL NOT BE ENOUGH

Of all the new jobs that will be created over the 1984-2000 period, more than half will require some education beyond high school, and almost a third will be filled by college graduates. Today, only 22 percent of all occupations require a college degree, according to the U.S. Department of Labor's Workforce 2000.

VFW OFFERS SCHOLARSHIP

"Students win more than awards and scholarships when they participate in the VFW Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program," said Commander Larry G. Smith Sr. of VFW Post 11363 about the broadcast scriptwriting program conducted annually by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary.

Some of the fringe benefits, according to Commander Smith are increased self-confidence and poise, experience in communicating with others and valuable training in self-expression. For the state winners, there is also the broadening experience of a five-day tour of Washington, D.C. and the opportunity to make lasting friendships with the other state winners.

In the 46 years that the VFW and its Ladies Auxiliary have been involved with the Voice of Democracy Program, more than 6 million high school students have participated.

Participants write and then tape-record a three-to-five minute broadcast script expressing their views on "My Voice In America's Future." From among the state winners, national winners are chosen to receive a total of over $78,500 in scholarships.

"One of the greatest benefits to young people who take part in the program is that by thinking, writing and speaking up for their country, they gain a better appreciation of their obligation and freedom in America," Smith said.

Any public or private school 10-, 11- or 12-grader can enter the contest. Contact Larry Smith, Jr. at 824-2615 for details. Entry deadline is Nov. 15.

NEWELL HONES SKILLS

Adam Newell, son of Glen and Yvonne Newell of Locke Mills, left Aug. 13 to attend Bunky Dent's Baseball School in Delray Beach, Fla.

For one week, Adam worked on advancing his skills in hitting and pitching, and he spent one day just learning the technique of sliding.

Rotary club notes

Tom Kenison, member of the Oxford Hills Rotary Club, was the guest speaker at the Tuesday, Aug. 18, breakfast meeting. Tom has been instrumental in organizing two Interact Club in the Oxford Hills, one at the high school and one at the junior high school.

Interact is the junior organization to the Rotary Club. It involves youth above age 14 in positive community service and has proven to be a great success in the Oxford Hills. Tom has offered his service and expertise in helping us to form a similar organization here in the Bethel area.

The highlight of the meeting was the induction of two new members. Terry Elsmore, sales coordinator for the Summit Hotel at Sunday River Ski Resort, and Dr. Joe DeMarco, chiropractor, were welcomed to the club by their proposers, Rick Flint and Dave Preble.

At the Aug. 11 meeting, Jim Yarnell led the program with a slide show and presentation on his love for the preservation of historic sites and structures.

Among the guests both weeks were Gil Robinson, Bill Lowther and Jim Wiswell, summer regulars.

News from the Bethel Area

Health Center

The Bethel Area Health Center will again be offering prepared childbirth education classes beginning Tuesday, Sept. 15, 1992 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. The classes run for six weeks and are taught by certified childbirth educator Kathy Sutton RNC, CCE.

Over the course of six weeks, the class will discuss care of the newborn, infant nutrition and parenting. Participants will also be instructed weekly in breathing and relaxation exercises.

The goal of the class is to prepare expectant parents in a holistic manner for a rewarding birth experience, and to help pave the way for healthy and happy babies and parents. The class will be held at the health center and the cost per couple is $35. Call the health center for more information or to register.

1992 FURBEARER SEASONS

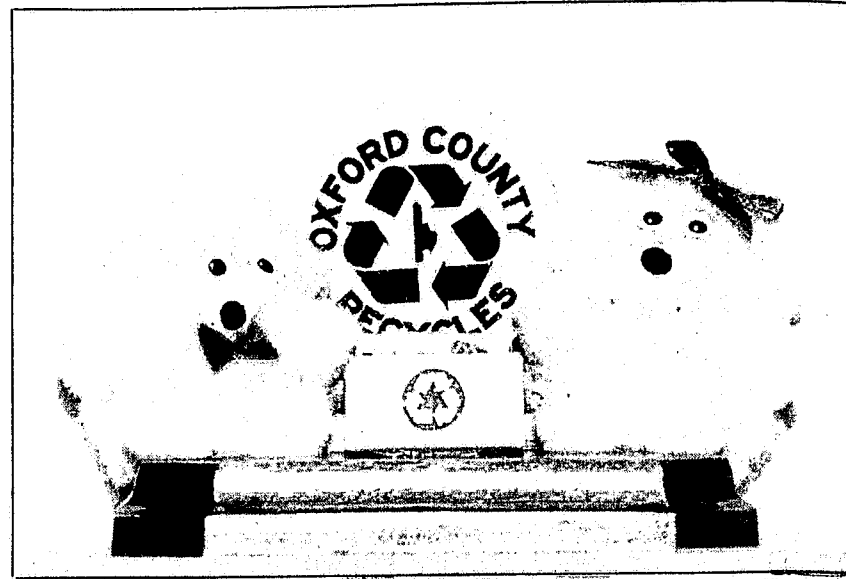

Season dates for trapping and hunting Maine furbearers have been announced by the state Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

Trapping of the following furbearers will be legal statewide from Nov. 1 to Dec. 31: bobcat, coyote, fisher, fox, marten, mink, muskrat, opossum, otter, raccoon, red squirrel, skunk, and weasel. There will also be a special statewide trapping season for coyote and fox from Oct. 25 to Oct. 31.

Statewide furbearers hunting seasons are raccoon, Oct. 1 to Dec. 31; bobcat, Dec. 1 to Jan. 31; fox, Oct. 26 to Feb. 28; skunk and opossum, Oct. 26-Dec. 31.

Beaver trapping will be legal in Wildlife Management Units 1, 2, 3 and 5 from Dec. 1 to March 31; in Units 4, 6, 7 and 8 the beaver season will be Jan. 1 to Feb. 28.

A new rule this year prohibits the setting or tending of any traps within 10 feet of a beaver or muskrat den or house; within five feet of a beaver dam; or within four feet of a beaver trap set by another trapper.

INTRODUCING RALPH AND RITA—The Oxford County Regional Solid Waste Corporation has adopted Ralph and Rita, the recycling bears, as part of the corporation's educational program. The stuffed bears, with the OCRSWC's logo, were distributed to all member towns and businesses that recycle.

ELLINGWOOD REUNION

The 67th annual reunion of the descendants of Asa Freeman and Florilla Dunham Ellingwood was held on Aug. 8, 1992 at the Muskegon Campground in Oxford. There were 46 persons in attendance.

The children enjoyed swimming, badminton, volleyball and other campground activities. The horseshoe pit challenged some of the men.

The meeting was called to order by president Jerry Ellingwood. The secretary/treasurer reports were read and accepted. Avis Ellingwood spoke of the many areas she inquired to find a new location more suitable for all members to enjoy. She found Muskegon to be the best choice for all. Suggestions are still welcome. It was voted to hold the 1993 reunion at Muskegon again on Saturday, Aug. 14.

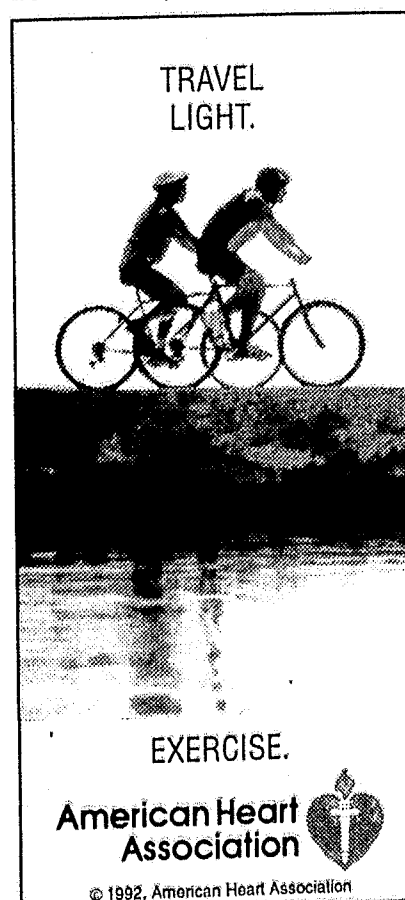

Officers were re-elected: president, Jerry Ellingwood; vice president, Lee Ellingwood; secretary/treasurer, Bonnie Ellingwood.

It was voted to purchase a large scrapbook to keep newspaper articles for all to review each year. Anyone finding such articles in their papers are asked to send them to Bonnie at 402 High St., South Paris, Me. 04281, to be put into this book.

To help build the treasury, Bonnie Ellingwood was given the go-ahead to collect recipes from family members to see if enough can be obtained to print a family cookbook which will be sold. By having a treasury, remembrances could be sent to members on special occasions and a discount to families with children could be available at reunion time.

The oldest member present was Hazel Ellingwood Spiller, at 97, of Norway. She is still walking at least a mile a day. She also participated in the local oral History project, which is on video tape.

The youngest member was Joshua Straton of South Paris, at 13 months. Traveling the furthest were Dennis, Julie, and Christopher Dyck from Norwich, Conn.

SMH FAMILY PROGRAM

Stephens Memorial Hospital's GATEWAY Chemical Dependency Services will sponsor a 12-week program, "Seeking Solutions," which will focus on family relationships and family problem solving. The program, which will begin on Wednesday, Sept. 9, will be held at the GATEWAY office at 17 Winter St. in Norway.

"Seeking Solutions" will address the addictive family system and will teach participants the skills they need to recover from co-dependency issues which they face living in a family system where the alcoholic or addict may or may not be in recovery. The program is designed for anyone who is interested in an educational program which concentrates on family problem solving. It will also be particularly helpful to adult children of alcoholics, who struggle with many of the issues which will be discussed.

Grace G. Roberts, L.S.A.C., who recently joined the GATEWAY staff, will facilitate the 12-week program. Roberts is a licensed substance abuse counselor and has experience in detoxification, inpatient rehabilitation and outpatient therapy.

The format of the 12-week program will include:

Week 1: What went wrong?
Week 2: What do I want to see come from this? What can I do now?

Week 3: Is there any hope?
Week 4: Tough Love
Weeks 5-10: Open discussion of issues

Week 11: Discussion around closure/continuance Week 12: Saying goodbye

The fee for the "Seeking Solutions" program is $25 per person per week. To register for the program, call GATEWAY at 743-5933, Ext. 535 or 536.

Coffeehouse to reopen

The committee of the Just Imagine Coffeehouse has announced the re-opening of their coffeehouse season, beginning on Saturday, Sept. 19. A special outdoor concert has been planned for 2 p.m. on the Bethel Commons.

The season opener will be a music group named the Zingo Zango Generic Jug Band, whose members play a variety of musical styles ranging from folk and bluegrass to country. They've received wide acclaim having won first place awards for comedy, video, and music from the Down East Country Music Association and the New Vineyard Mountain Bluegrass Festival. They opened for the reknowned Basins Brothers cajun band, Raouls in Portland, and they will be featured this fall at other venues such as the Litchfield Fair and Fryeburg Fair.

Upcoming issues of The Citizen will have further information about the season opener.

Guess What is Happening in October?

Dear Mildred,

I couldn't wait to tell you about the most exciting thing to happen in Bethel since Buzzy's dog bit a tire on his pickup truck on Main Street two years back! I ran in Violette at the drug store the other day and she had just purchased tickets for herself and George to The First Annual Bethel Homecoming Dance. She said there's going to be a 14 piece jazz band orchestra playing a kind of music. I hear there's going to be yummy desserts for and even a cash bar. Violette's friend told her they're also giving away prizes, dinners... all sorts of exciting free things. And it's hard to believe that the ticket only cost $20 each! Part of the money goes to community improvement. I hear they are going to erect a Welcome to Bethel sign with money. Seems like a good call to me.

I don't relish the idea of dining in my closet for a long drive but Violette said anything done will do. George turned up his nose at putting on a coat and tie and buying new flowers. But finally came around. You know George's such an old sweetie.

Even my Granddaughter and her fiancé, who will be into Columbus Day Weekend for the Blue Mountain Arts and Crafts Festival activities at Sunday River is planning to attend. She's closing her old friends together and they're planning a table of friends.

You know, the nice thing about this dance brings back memories of Saturday nights spent dancing at The Top Hat. So, out those pearls Violette! Call me, Gloria, Marg, Bertie and their huddies and tell them to join us... let's make a table, just the way we used to!

Got some chores to do, go run. So, mark your calendar October 10th and don't forget call 824-3400 or 824-3020 your tickets... or just stop by drug store.

Your dearest friend,

With love,

AHHS HALFWAY TO GOAL
The Androscoggin Home Health Services annual fundraising campaign is half-way towards its goal of $40,000.
The campaign is conducted each summer throughout the AHHS service area and is led by several volunteer committees organized in local communities. All proceeds from the campaign are used to provide home health services for people without insurance coverage.
Helping with the campaign in the Bethel area are: Rev. Gwyneth Bohr, chair, Barbara Brown, Nancy Donnelly, Patricia Donovan, Rebecca Kendall, Sande Powell-Endicott, E.Maria McGinnis, Cathy Newell, Jan Stowell, Natalie Timberlake, and Lindsey Wieden.
To date, the group has raised $2,994 toward the local goal of $3,120.
For more information about AHHS or to make a contribution, contact the AHHS Auburn office at 795-4025 or 1-800-482-7412; or contact any of the local campaign committee members. Contributions may also be sent to AHHS at 1100 Minot Avenue, P.O. Box 1660, Auburn, Me 04211-1660.

LITTLEHALE REUNION
The 71st reunion of the descendants of Jacob and Lois Stearns Littlehale was held on Sunday, Aug. 16 at the home of Earl and Amy Andrews in Oxford. Of the 47 in attendance, two year old Coburn Bubier of Greene was the youngest, and Frances Dunn was the oldest. Lawrence Littlehale and Charles Eames worked on updating the genealogy charts and hope to have copies to pass out next year. In 1993 the family will meet in Greenwood at the summer home of Eddie and Frances Waisanen on the third Sunday in August.

From the Bethel Area Chmb. of Commerce

Welcome to our newest member, Mahoosuc Mountain Sports, Rick Boucher, who operates his business on Main Street, selling, renting and servicing mountain bikes and bike accessories. This winter Rick will be selling telemark ski equipment. Welcome to the business community, Rick. Sal's Cleaning Service has also joined our chamber and is hoping to expand his Rumford based business into the Bethel area. You can reach Sal LaBarbera at 824-2955 for prices and information on his business. Please make Sal welcome as one who offers a service to the businesses of the Bethel area.

Many thanks to Joe Cardello and Penny Bohac, owners of the Abbott House Bed and Breakfast, for hosting a "Business Before Hours" on Monday, Aug. 24. Those that attended enjoyed a delicious breakfast and a tour of their lovely home and business.

OLD HOME SUNDAY AT RUMFORD POINT

The Rumford Point Church will observe Old Home Sunday on Aug. 30. The event will begin with worship at 10:30 a.m. and be followed by a potluck luncheon at noon.

Several former ministers are expected to attend, including Rev. Harry Conroy, Rev. Paul Willard and Patricia Moore. Several former members, who have moved away, are also expected to return. Also, anyone in the community with roots or an interest in the church is invited to come and share a time of memories, reunion and fellowship.

During the worship old time favorite hymns will be sung, memories shared and letters from former parishioners, unable to attend, will be read. Old pictures will be on display in the dining room during the luncheon.

Anyone attending from the local area is asked to bring a hot dish, salad or dessert to share.

The executive directors of the Rangeley, Sugarloaf, Farmington, Oxford Hills and Bethel got together recently with Big E committee members to wrap up plans for the Eastern States Exposition in West Springfield, Mass., which will be held from Sept. 16-27.

All members who would like to send their brochures to this show are asked to bring a quantity of 100 to the chamber office by Sept. 11. Chad McGrew of McGrew Homes has designed and will build new brochure racks to distribute our printed matter more effectively. Jim Mann has offered to lend us a showcase to exhibit mineral specimens found in Western Maine. Many thanks to these folks for their efforts on the region's behalf.

The chamber leaders also discussed other cooperative projects we may want to undertake for the future, perhaps attendance at a Canadian travel show for next summer as many of these folks use our region to travel through on their way to points east and west.

Executive Director Robin Zinchuk met with NTL dean Eva Schindler Rainman to discuss the possibility of having Bethel crafts and products showcases on a more regular basis at NTL next summer. It was agreed that although NTL's numbers were down this year that it was a great summer. Robin will be working with NTL to supply them with Bethel region marketing materials which should further help the attendance in future summers.

The Bethel area retailers will be meeting Wednesday, Sept. 2, at 8 a.m. at the Key Bank to make plans for the fall and winter seasons. All are welcome.

The chamber, in cooperation with the Bethel Area Health Center, invites everyone to a quarterly General Membership Meeting and Social on Monday evening, Sept. 21, at 6:30 p.m. This will be held at the health center on Railroad Street.

Bethel Inn golf news:

The ladies have completed this years President Cup Finals with Lee Barth taking the title of Gross Champion and Laura Groce the Net Champion. Laura almost had both titles for herself as she won the net championship in a tough match against Barbara Stevens but the grueling schedule may have been too much for this celebrated southern golfer as a rested Lee Barth went the distance against Groce to win the gross title.

INJURED HIKER COMPLETES OUTWARD BOUND PROGRAM

The 16-year-old hiker evacuated by helicopter after falling in Mahoosuc Notch on the Appalachian Trail two weeks ago has returned to the trail and his Outward Bound course.

Darren Cain of Danbury, Conn. received multiple bruises and a mild concussion during his fall on Aug. 11, according to Landon Fake, at Hurricane Island Outward Bound in Newry.

Fake said Cain was back in the course Aug. 12 after being released from the hospital.

Cain continued to hike the Appalachian Trail and in the White Mountain National Forest, Fake said, and his group also worked on a nature trail on Maurice Kendall Island.

Cain completed his course with the rest of his group on Sunday.

championship was decided this weekend. Teams comprised of bands and wives competed scotch ball format for the hot 1992 Couples Champion. This winners were:

First Gross, Raymond and Moran, 84; runner up, Dale and bara Stevens, 85; First net, Le Cathleen Oberst, 64; runner up and Linda Marchildon, 66.

Junior Golf News:

The Maine Chapter of the England PGA held it's annual championship last week at Riverside Golf Course in Portland. Kyle Moran of the Bethel In Country Club shot a 79 to win 12 and 13-year-old age group who has never played the course managed to win by a stroke margin.

At Paris Hill Golf Club last Matt Mead, a member of the Inn, shot a 49 to tie and ever win the 10 and under division putt off just after play concluded. Matt sank a 10-footer to take the title. Matt, who is seven-old, has been playing golf since was two. Congratulations go both Matt and Kyle.

UNITED METHODIST WOMEN

Bethel U.M.W. will meet Sept. 4 at noon in the church room for a pot luck luncheon. Meeting at 1 p.m. Hostesses Verna Dyke and Sylvia Clanton.

Tartar-Control Toothpastes

Dental experts indicate that there are two primary causes of tooth loss in adults 35 years of age and older. One cause is gum (periodontal) disease and the other is tooth decay (dental caries). Much of the dental education directed at the public is targeted toward the prevention of gum disease and tooth decay. One of the major factors in the development of both conditions is the presence of plaque on the gums and teeth.

Dental plaque is sticky, colorless film of bacteria that is constantly forming in the mouth. After a meal that is especially high in sugar, plaque begins to form. If plaque is not removed within a reasonable period of time through brushing and the use of dental floss,

it tends to harden into a material that is called calculus or "tartar."

Tartar is difficult to remove and often requires the services of a dental hygienist or dentist. Tartar-control toothpastes are promoted as products that slow the rate at which plaque is converted into the harder tartar material.

Tartar-control toothpastes include zinc chloride or various py-rophosphates as active ingredients.

In one recent study of a toothpaste containing both ingredients, individuals were told to brush their teeth twice daily. Results indicated that the formation of tartar was reduced by as much as 38 percent. One person in the study experienced slight gum irritation.

BUSINESS OR HOBBY? WHAT A DIFFERENCE A WORD MAKES

This article is brought to you by Jane D. Gray, CPA

Do you know the difference between a "business" and a "hobby"? If you earn money from a sideline activity, this distinction can have a major impact on your tax bill.

For example, say you do craft work in your spare time and sell your creations at a local shop. (Or maybe you have an evening sales job, show animals part-time, or buy and sell collectibles.) The IRS says you must report all sideline income, whatever the source.

To earn this extra income, you probably incur expenses for supplies, equipment, and other items — maybe even entertainment and travel. If the IRS views your part-time activity as a business, you may deduct all related expenses, even if total expenses exceed your income. But if your sideline is a hobby, you may deduct your expenses only up to the income you earned from the activity. The bottom line: if your sideline is a business, you may claim a loss on your tax return. If your sideline is a hobby, no tax loss is allowed.

Generally, if your sideline is profitable in at least three out of five consecutive years, the IRS will presume it's a business. If your sideline doesn't meet this test (or just barely meets it), the IRS may look at several different factors. If you keep good records and your activity looks like a legitimate start-up (rather than a permanent money-loser), the IRS will probably treat it as a business. But if you aren't businesslike, or you just seem to be having too much fun, the IRS will probably view your sideline as a hobby.

If you're not sure about your own particular sideline, give us a call. Corner of Vernon & Main Streets, Bethel • 824-2802

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

This will perhaps sound more like a story for children than what should be written for a "Thought from the Pastor's Study," but sometime, simple, even silly, little thoughts can offer a very serious lesson.

Then on the other hand, perhaps it is well that this column should now and then give a special message for children, either to read or have read to them.

Let us now enter into a world of make-believe. We will pretend that we are a truck. You know, one of those huge trucks that carry heavy loads in big trailers. Really, I guess we should say we are a tractor. We haul heavy loads over steep hills, through cities and countryside. Sounds like hard work doesn't it? But then, many of the tasks of life are hard work.

But just what is this tractor, anyway? A cab and chassis mounted on wheels, having an engine and running gear besides many other parts that all make it a working unit. Now let us remove the engine. Can it do now what it is supposed to do? Of course not.

We'll say this is a gasoline engine. We put the engine back, but have no gas. Still we can do nothing. We add gas but then there is no spark to ignite it. We still cannot haul the loads. So, we find that besides the engine we need fuel and spark.

In I Corinthians 13:13 "New American Version) the apostle Paul speaks out on love, saying, "But now abide Faith, Hope, Love, these three. But the greatest of these is Love."

Now in our imaginary tractor-let us consider the fuel, Hope: the spark, Faith--the engine, Love. In order for the tractor to fulfill its maker's purpose we must have these three.

We, too, in order to fulfill our Maker's purpose for us must have all three also. But as the engine is what gives the tractor its motivation, so it is love that gives us ours.

Rodney Hanscom, Sr.
Pastor, Newry Community Church

Merrill - Murch

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Merrill of Bethel are pleased to announce the engagement of their daughter, Samantha Sue, to Thomas E. Murch of Watford. Tom is the son of Alfred and Linda Murch of Watford. Samantha is a 1984 graduate of Telstar High School and also of EMTC in Bangor. She is employed at Rosemont Lab, Inc. in Portland. Thomas graduated from Oxford Hills High School in 1984. He owns and operates Murch Concrete in Watford. An Oct. 3, 1992 wedding is planned.

Obituaries

LESLIE E. LAPHAM

Leslie E. Lapham, 88, formerly of Bethel, died Friday, Aug. 21, 1992, at Ledgeview Nursing Home.

He was born at Rumford, Dec. 30, 1903, the son of Thomas L. and Blanche Herrick Lapham. He was educated in Rumford schools and graduated from Stephens High School. He worked as a mason for most of his life, first with his father for a time, then he was self-employed for the remainder of his career. He was a former member of the Odd Fellows, the Bethel Fish and Game Club, and Bethel Methodist Church. He had lived in Bethel since 1929. He married Myrtle Wilson on Sept. 29, 1930; she died in 1989.

Mr. Lapham is survived by nieces and nephews.

Graveside services were held on Tuesday, Aug. 25, at the Sunnyside Cemetery in Rumford, with Rev. Lisa Vonderhelde officiating.

PEARL H. BAKER

Mrs. Pearl H. Baker, 75, died Wednesday, Aug. 19, 1992, at the Clover Manor Health Care Center in Auburn.

She was born July 3, 1917, the daughter of Frank and Dorothy (Johnson) Bemis. She attended Fryeburg schools and the Fryeburg Academy. She married Ervin E. Baker in Bridgton on Nov. 29, 1934. They resided at 3 Winslow St., Harrison. She was a pastry cook and supervisor for the school lunch program in Harrison and also Bridgton Academy. For over 30 years she worked as a cook at Camp Owatonna Boys Camp in Harrison. She was also a member of the Calvary Community church in Harrison and a member of A.A.R.P.

Mrs. Baker is survived by her husband; two sons: Ervin E. Baker, Jr. of Tolland, Ct., and Perry N. Baker of Longwood, Fla.; two daughters: Mrs. Robert (Norma) Gyure of Auburn, and Mrs. Matthew (Donna) Harris of Elliot; one sister Mrs. Barbara Walker of Conway, N.H.; four brothers: Byron Bemis of Cornish; Harry Bemis of Slow; Paul Bemis of Palm City, Fla.; and Bradford Bemis of Conway, N.H.; 15 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Graveside services were held on Saturday, Aug. 22 at the Village Cemetery in Harrison. Those who desire please contribute to the American Cancer Society, Box 456, Brunswick, Me. 04011 in her memory. Arrangements were under the direction of the Meader & Son Funeral Home, 24 Fair St., Norway, Maine.

E. FAYE MACLEOD

Mrs. E. Faye MacLeod, 89, died August 18, 1992, at the Central Maine Medical Center where she had been a patient.

She was born in Andover on June 25, 1903. She was the daughter of Charles A. and Olive J. (Field) Dresser. She was educated in Andover, the class of 1922 and attended Gorham Normal School and also attended the University of Maine in Orono. She married the late Robert C. MacLeod who died in Portland on May 14, 1982. She was an elementary school teacher in Bucksport for 37 years and taught in many Maine town schools until retirement in 1970. She had been currently residing in Auburn. The organizations she belonged to were the Bucksport Literary Club; Andover Congregational Church; was a former member of the Rebekah Lodge; the Act Club; the Oxford Grange and Teachers Club.

Mrs. MacLeod is survived by several nieces.

The graveside services were held at the Woodlawn Cemetery in Andover by the Rev. Dr. E. Marriotte Churchill from the Andover Congregational Church. Those who desire may contribute to the Andover Congregational Church in memory of Mrs. E. Faye MacLeod. The arrangements were under the direction of the Meader & Son Funeral Home, 3 Franklin Street, Rumford, Maine 04276.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF

Michael Marston

May 15, 1970 - Aug. 24, 1991

A year gone by how can it be?

I thought you would still be here to share things with me.

Although we fought as siblings do,

There was love inside

unspoken but true

But now you're gone

it doesn't seem real.

I find it hard to express the sadness I feel.

I can see the pain in our families eyes.

I know like me they are still asking "why"

The answers we seek - will they ever come?

You were my only brother-

So determined, so brave and so young!

Sadly missed and always loved
